Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor the life and memory of Somerset County Sheriff Brad Cramer, who passed away on April 3, 2021. As a public servant, Sheriff Cramer worked tirelessly to protect and serve the residents of Somerset County.

Sheriff Cramer spent four decades as a law enforcement officer. He served for 30 years with the Somerset Borough Police Department, including six years as the Borough's Police Chief. He went on to serve the Conemaugh Township Police Department for four years and afterwards, he joined the Somerset County Sheriffs Department as a deputy prior to being elected Sheriff in 2015.

HONORING COURT APPOINTED
SPECIAL ADVOCATES OF MONTEREY COUNTY

HON. JIMMY PANETTA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, April 8, 2021

Mr. PANETTA. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the indispensable advocacy of a Central Coast organization that gives a voice to some of our most vulnerable community members. Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of Monterey County improves the lives of children in the foster care system by pairing them with trained volunteers from the community who advocate for them and stand by their side as stable adults they can count on as they go through the chaos of the foster care system.

CASA and its devoted staff and team of volunteers are guided by the needs of children in need of someone to stand by them and ensure they are not alone as they face instability, fear, and unfamiliar surroundings. Since 1994, the organization has continued to be the only local nonprofit of its kind that recruits, trains, and supports community volunteers to serve as court appointed advocates for abused and neglected foster children throughout Monterey County. CASA of Monterey County exists so that abused and neglected children in protective care have the chance to become successful adults.

Monterey County is home to over 400 children and youth in foster care. But thanks to the devoted advocates and the CASA team, these children have a voice as they navigate a tumultuous system. CASA provides these children the compassion, clarity, and care they so desperately need. And it is because of CASA that these children and youth have the tools they need to go on to successful adulthoods.

Madam Speaker, it is my pleasure to recognize this treasured community organization that has protected and advocated for countless foster children and youth. I thank all of those who have given their time and resources to help these children feel safe and succeed. I extend my gratitude to CASA Monterey's Board of Directors, Board Chair Jennifer Rosenthal, Executive Director Beth Wilbur, and its devoted network of advocates.

IN RECOGNITION OF ELVIS
"SONNY" GIBSON

HON. EMANUEL CLEAVER

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, April 8, 2021

Mr. CLEAVER. Madam Speaker, I proudly rise today to recognize and celebrate a passionate historian, dedicated public servant, and deeply valued member of the Kansas City community, Mr. Elvis "Sonny" Gibson. Though Mr. Gibson retired from a career with the federal government in 1989, his work to make our world a more equitable and just place has never stopped. To this day, Sonny continues to give back to his community, contribute to the Black cultural history of Kansas City, and bend the American historical record as a whole towards truth and justice. Because of

Mr. Gibson's outstanding work and tireless commitment, voices once silenced have been heard, people once forgotten have been remembered, and stories once lost have been told.

After moving to Kansas City with his family in 1947, Sonny attended R. T. Coles High School, one of only two high schools for Black students in Kansas City at the time. He then went on to work as Branch Chief of Fair Housing within the United States Department of Housing of Urban Development. In that role, Sonny proved himself to be adept at navigating the bureaucracy to find solutions for those who needed it most. After a career that lasted over twenty-nine years, Sonny retired, but his work was far from over.

Writing his first book in 1988, Sonny quickly began a second career dedicated to telling the stories of the previously unrecognized and acknowledging the work of Black Kansas Citians throughout history. It was, and continues to be, a labor of love for Sonny—one that has propelled him to produce six books and spend innumerable hours researching and collecting reliable historical accounts. The articles and announcements Sonny discovered and shared with the world had often been left out of traditional historical sources. Not only was Sonny resolved to bringing them to light, he also went about the monumental task of arranging them in chronological order and having them reproduced in the exact way he encountered them. His attention to detail and high historiographical standards are a reflection of the importance of Sonny's work and his passion for doing it justice. Front of mind for Sonny has always been the impact these historical artifacts will have on his readers. These small glimpses of history help us understand who we are as a nation as much as, if not more than, any broad volume. For example, in his most recent book, 1865—A Kansas City Negro History, Sonny writes about a place that is especially near and dear to my heart: Kansas City's 18th and Vine district. Through his writing, he is able to take readers back in time to highlight the entertainers, politicians, and business leaders who built the historic area. Sonny has an exceptional talent and ability to help his readers view history through the eyes of those who lived it—people not so different than the readers themselves.

As I think about Sonny's wisdom and passion, one specific instance comes to mind. Sonny was telling an audience about being posed the question "Why are you always wondering about what Black people did way back when?" Sonny said, "To understand the struggle, to understand that there are people in this country and in this city, who have come through an ocean of blood and tears, to get where we are today." Fueled by his unwavering mission to understand the struggles of those who have come before him, Sonny has not only deepened his own understanding of our city's rich Black history. He has also given the gift of that knowledge to his community, to his country, and to future generations.

In addition to his work as an author, Sonny also dedicates a great deal of time to giving back to his community. He has served on numerous boards and societies, including the National Board of Directors for the National Black United Fund. He has held the position of Resident Scholar for the Black Archives of Mid America, Inc., and he has worked as the Historian in Resident for the Bruce R. Watkins Cultural Center. Sonny sets a true example of the qualities we should look for in all public servants: dedication, perseverance, and a deep, generous love for his community.

Sonny's unwavering devotion and tireless commitment has made a profound impact on the Kansas City community, so I am truly privileged to be able to recognize Sonny's efforts today. Madam Speaker, please join me and Missouri's Fifth Congressional District in celebrating Mr. Elvis "Sonny" Gibson. Our history is how we understand ourselves, and every day, Sonny helps us understand ourselves a bit better. Let us all seek to emulate his example by dedicating ourselves to service, dismantling injustice in all its forms, and affirming that the American story is incomplete so long as so many American stories are left off its pages. Let us continue to add new pages, so that we may be able to make history by writing it down.

HONORING THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF FIRST LADY ROSANNE SANTOS ADA

HON. MICHAEL F.Q. SAN NICOLAS

OF GUAM

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, April 8, 2021

Mr. SAN NICOLAS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life and legacy of Rosanne Santos Ada. Rosanne was a former first lady of Guam and dedicated public servant. The people of Guam will fondly remember her as a leader whose decades of contributions to our underserved communities and whole-hearted compassion strengthened our island community.

When Rosanne's husband, Joseph Ada, was elected to office as the Governor of Guam in 1987, she rose to proudly serve our people as its first lady for eight years. In addition to being a dedicated wife, mother, and grandmother, she is widely known as a passionate advocate for members of our community in most need. As a first lady, she advocated for greater support and services for individuals with disabilities, and her contributions to this community further expanded through her work as a director at the Department of Integrated Services for Individuals with Disabilities and Executive Director of the Guam Developmental Disabilities Council. Taking on these roles of leadership in our community, Rosanne further assisted in developing culturally competent programs to promote self-determination, independence, and productivity for individuals with disabilities. Further, she worked for and with individuals with disabilities and their families in advocating for systems change, public policy, and best practices which accounted for the full inclusion and integration of individuals with disabilities in all facets of community life.

Her lifelong mission of selfless service and advocacy for the voiceless also poured out into other parts of her career as well. Alongside her colleagues at Guma' Mami, a community-based nonprofit organization, Rosanne continued her work of inclusion and integration while facilitating supportive housing and successful case management for adults with disabilities. This profound commitment to others above and before self truly proved limitless through her continued work for the marginalized during Eddie Calvo's gubernatorial administration.

Rosanne Ada is an icon of servant leadership, dear friend to many, and esteemed champion of equitable support systems for all. Her life's work illustrates a humbling devotion to seeking justice in places often overlooked, and I join the people of Guam in remembering and celebrating her life and legacy of unconditional commitment to serving the people she leaves behind. I extend my deepest condolences to former Governor Joseph Ada, their children Eric, Tricia, and Ester, and the rest of their family and friends. Rosanne will be deeply missed, and her love and memories will forever remain in the hearts of the people of Guam.
